Student Feedback Report on Rakhi Project

The student feedback report highlights the overwhelming positivity and pride felt by participants in this project, with 100% of them expressing happiness and a willingness to recommend it to their friends. Students shared their heartfelt views on the Rakhi Project, emphasizing how making Rakhis creates an emotional connection with soldiers and fosters a sense of gratitude and respect for their sacrifices. They suggested increasing the number of Rakhis each year to further strengthen this bond.

Additionally, students expressed the importance of expanding the initiative by involving other colleges to contribute to the project. This collaborative effort can significantly boost the number of Rakhis sent to soldiers stationed at the borders, making them feel more appreciated and connected to the nation. Overall, the students find the project meaningful and inspiring, as it promotes unity, patriotism, and the value of contributing to a noble cause.
